ADEPT is the voice of Place Directors in county and unitary local authorities.

As place-making strategists and policy shapers we design services for the future, making the decisions that shape both our economy and environment.

We are in a unique position, operating between national and local government and Local Enterprise Partnerships. ADEPT works closely with Whitehall and Westminster and alongside our many trusted partners across the private and public sectors.

ADEPT is a forward-thinking organisation, supporting transformation and innovation. We work closely with Corporate Partners at all levels to develop the policies and initiatives we take to Government.

With the devolution of powers to local government as well as a changing relationship with the EU, it's never been more important to have strong partnerships.

We invite you to work with us as members and help shape the future.

'One of ADEPT's strengths is its partnerships, collaborations and networks and our Corporate Partners are a hugely important and integral part of ADEPT. The collective reach of place directors and our partners means ADEPT is in a unique position in being able to make the case for place services. By joining ADEPT, Corporate Partners have a great opportunity to help to shape thinking on future policy and practice.'
